Mid Term Coming

Progress Reports go home on March 2, 2011.

4th and 5th Geometry

We are still learning geometry in both 4th and 5th grade. Please encourage your son or daughter to think outside of the box. Geometry requires a visual outlook and hands on approach.

Sometimes this can be challenging even for students tend to make high marks in mathematics.

Encourage them to be patients with themselves. Perfection does not come immediately to most. However, success will come to all. InshAllah!

4th and 5th Science

Science Fair is just around the corner. Your child has already chosen a topic.

Please keep in a mind that I am breaking each step down in to small parts so that this process will not be so overwhelming. Pay attention to the websites, binders, and important handouts for deadlines and/or guidelines to ensure that he or she will produce a project to be proud of.

Note: 7 Topics due Feb 11.
Final topic and question due Feb 14. Purpose due Feb 16.
Hypothesis due Feb 24.

Also, remember the he or she should be conducting an experiment, not just building something with tools or chemicals. A good experiment might involve a comparison such as the cleaning effects of vinegar versus baking soda.

Hope this helps☺.
